Social Justice Monday – Medical Legal Partnerships in Washington

Oct 30 | 12:00 – 1:00 pm | Sullivan Hall C5 – Soup Lunch Provided

Social problems contribute to poor health. Every day in clinics across the country, health care providers see patients struggling with both medical problems and health related social needs that often go unaddressed. Medical Legal Partnerships (MLPs) seek to bridge the divide and make attorneys a part of the clinical team and this cross-disciplinary integrated care helps improve outcomes for patients and their families. Please join Catherine West and Mahlet Zelleke from the Northwest Justice Project as they discuss Medical Legal Partnerships in Washington and their work with Harborview Medical Center, Seattle Children’s Hospital, and Valley Cities Medical Center.
