Seattle University School of Law Journals

Recruitment season for our SU law journals is officially upon us! So, what exactly is a journal? Simply put, a journal is a scholarly publication of research done by legal scholars. It enriches the growth and development of the law and serves as a useful research tool for students, attorneys, judges, and legal scholars. Journals also provide valuable educational and professional experiences for their student members. Generally, on all SU law journals, students will be required to write their own note or comment and edit other articles that will be published in their respective journal.

So, you've seen us tabling and you've attended the Mandatory Journal Information Session.*Now what? Well, if you're still interested in applying for our journals, please see the rest of our recruitment timeline outlined below.

Week of April 25 | Individual Journal Information Sessions

Come join us if you would like to know more about a specific journal! Bring your questions, enjoy some food, and meet some of our current members.

- April 25 – AILJ from 3:00-4:00 (Room 329)
- April 26 – SULR from 12:00-1:00 (Room 110)
- April 27 – SJSJ from 12:00-1:00 (Room 110)
- April 28 – SJTEIL from 12:00-1:00 (Room 110)

May 2-16 | AILJ Rolling Application Process

AILJ has two ways you can join. If you do not want to join through the write-on competition then you can apply through our rolling application process. This begins May 2nd and closes May 16th. After it closes the only way you can join is through the write-on. Information for the rolling applications will be available on TWEN soon. To prepare you will need a cover letter, resume and a 5-page writing sample.

May 16-31 | Annual Joint Journal Write-On Competition

Participating in the Write-On Competition is the only way you can join a journal (except through the AILJ's rolling application process). More details will be discussed at our information sessions!

For specific journal related questions, please reach out to the respective Managing Editor:

- Mary Bent, AILJ – Contact Info Redacted
- Natalie Shen, SJTEIL – Contact Info Redacted
- Manmit Kaur, SJSJ – Contact Info Redacted
- Christine Sohn, SULR – Contact Info Redacted

Alternative Facts: The Lies of Executive Order 9066

Friday, April 29 from 2:00 – 4:30 pm

Location: Via webinar. Contact Info Redacted

Filmmaker Jon Osaki's documentary, "Alternative Facts: The Lies of Executive Order 9066" takes an in-depth look at the legal rationale and evidence that undergirded the issuance of Executive Order 9066, which led to the wartime incarceration of almost 120,000 persons of Japanese ancestry, and Korematsu v. United States (1944), the subsequent U.S. Supreme Court Case which upheld its constitutionality. Using historical footage, documents, and interviews, Alternative Facts covers the forces and players that brought E.O. 9066 into being, the work of researchers who uncovered evidence unmasking the manipulated record submitted to the Supreme Court in Korematsu, and the work of the attorneys pursuing coram nobis cases to vacate the convictions of Fred Korematsu, Gordon Hirabayashi, and Minoru Yasui.

After a screening of Alternative Facts, Serin Ngai, of Sound Family Solutions, PLLC, will lead a panel discussion with filmmaker Jon Osaki, King County Superior Court Presiding Judge Patrick Oishi, and Lori Bannai, Professor Emeritus, Seattle University School of Law, and Director Emeritus of the law school's Korematsu Center. Professor Bannai was also an attorney on the legal team that won vacation of Mr. Korematsu's wartime conviction. The panel will discuss the role of attorneys and the judiciary in Korematsu case, how these issues continue to impact the current legal and political climate, and how lawyers and judges can respond.

Ethical Culture and Misconduct: A CECO's Perspective

Tuesday, May 3 from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

Location: Boeing Room (Lemieux Library 122) and Contact Info Redacted

Join Tyson Avery, SVP, Deputy Counsel, and Chief Ethics and Compliance Officer of Starbucks for the first of two keynotes marking Albers Ethics Week. In this presentation, Avery will discuss his career as a Lieutenant Colonel and Judge Advocate in the U.S. Marine Corps, member of the White House Counsel's Office and, now, a Chief Ethics Officer with Starbucks. These experiences demonstrate not only that ethics in organizations demand proactive strategies to identify and prevent misconduct, but also the ability of leaders to create climates that allow ethically grounded individuals to excel.

Business Ethics: What Everyone Needs to Know

Thursday, May 5 from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

Location: Boeing Room (Lemieux Library 122) and Contact Info Redacted

In the second of two keynotes celebrating Albers Ethics Week, Harvard Business School Visiting Professor and Associate Professor of Law at Villanova University J.S. Nelson will review some of the major insights from her new book, Business Ethics: What Everyone Needs to Know. Apart from examining why ethical problems emerge within businesses, she will discuss the ways in which management teams can create environments to limit ethical failure and create the incentives needed for employees to make decisions consistent with a company's stated values. The benefits and challenges to managing ethics in this manner will be highlighted.
