

May 2008

Lonely Girl

Anastasia Klatt

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.law.seattleu.edu/sjsj>

Recommended Citation

Klatt, Anastasia (2008) "Lonely Girl," Seattle Journal for Social Justice: Vol. 7 : Iss. 2 , Article 4.
Available at: <https://digitalcommons.law.seattleu.edu/sjsj/vol7/iss2/4>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Publications and Programs at Seattle University School of Law Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Seattle Journal for Social Justice by an authorized editor of Seattle University School of Law Digital Commons. For more information, please contact coteconor@seattleu.edu.

LONELY GIRL

by Anastasia Klatt

Walking at night cold and alone with nobody besides you, because all your friends decided to get stoned fried are drunk. The rain is pouring down and you feel the chill going through your body not knowing where to crash. Should you go to the abandoned house that you got lost in, or the cold bench in the park that you froze your little body at? Because you know that you don't want to walk and wander around the city and get jumped or raped so your best choice is to go home where your daddy beats you and your mommy does not care a bit about you. But you know that you will have a roof over your head even if you are not loved because every time you come home you were ignored and the love was never there for you and you got used to it. Since you were disliked because the one child that your parents really wanted was your little brother. So you ended being hated because you're a girl! And never was accepted even though it was not always like that. It happened when your mommy had your little brother and you were just a girl not a boy.

So walking alone at night thinking about where to go, the choice is up to you and nobody is going to choose it for you, but if it was your choice where would you go?